

COMMERCE BODY
APPROVES BONUS

Opposes Cash Payment to Soldiers But Outlines Compensation to Veterans.

Although opposed to immediate payment in cash, the South Bend Chamber of Commerce recorded its self Wednesday with regard to the soldiers' bonus bill, as being in favor of payment through certificates covering a long period of insurance policies.

The statement issued is as follows: In favor of a national system of reclamation to be initiated through adequate federal appropriations and to be carried out for the purpose of affording ex-service men opportunity to cultivate the soil.

In favor of national legislation and appropriations to enable ex-service men to build homes.

In favor of national legislation and appropriations to enable ex-service men to obtain vocational education.

Opposed to immediate payment in cash, but are in favor of payment through certificates covering long period of insurance policies.

This opinion of the Chamber was secured through a personal canvass of its directors and reflects the thinking of a large number of persons. The question has been uppermost in the minds of officials of the Chamber of Commerce for several months. The South Bend Chamber of Commerce is a strong adherent of the American Legion, and a supporter of legislation which will make for service to the former soldier. It is the belief of the Chamber that the best interests of the soldier can be served as indicated by its opinion in this referendum.

Scout Committee Honors

Winners of Wyman Cup

Scout troop No. 18 of the Grace M. E. church was entertained Tuesday evening in the basement of the church by the scout committee and their wives. The supper which included all the goodies dear to the hearts of boys, was in celebration of the troop's winning for the second time the Wyman cup.

The cup is given to the troop which shows the most improvement in a period of 10 weeks. Troops 27, 22 and 18 have each held the cup at one time. Permanent possession of the cup will be had by the troop winning it three times. Although troop 18 is at present "in the cellar," its members are making a valiant effort to make the cup theirs during the next 10 weeks.

James Hogan to Represent N. D.
At Indianapolis

Notre Dame Senior to Participate in State Oratorical Contest Friday.

Notre Dame will be represented in the annual state oratorical contest which will be held at Indianapolis Friday night by James Hogan, a senior in the College of Arts and Letters. Mr. Hogan was the winner of the Brown medal contest at Notre Dame in December, and that honor carried with it the privilege of representing Notre Dame in the intercollegiate contest.

Practically all the colleges of Indiana will send a representative to the affair. Many of the most famous college orators and debaters are on the entry list, among them a former winner of the state contest. Notre Dame's representative, however, is one of the three or four men who are expected to win. He has had considerable experience in the platform work, having won sophomore and junior oratorical contests at Notre Dame. Last winter he was a member of the varsity debating team that met Ohio State, Detroit, Wabash and Valparaiso. This year Hogan is captain of the negative varsity debating team, and he will have to hurry back from Indianapolis, as the two Notre Dame teams must meet in a preliminary skirmish at St. Mary's Sunday night.

Speaks on Joan of Arc. The title of the oration which he will deliver Friday is "The Lily of France." Its subject is taken from a dramatic moment in the life of Joan of Arc, and the influence of that saint on French history. When delivered in the Brown contest, the oration seemed to be a veritable prose-poem, and it lends itself exceedingly well to Mr. Hogan's style of delivery, which is very smooth, yet convincing. His voice is soft and well modulated. The task he has before him of maintaining Notre Dame's enviable reputation on the platform is a difficult one, however. Notre Dame orators have always been ranked high in the state contests and have won them frequently. Two years ago Notre Dame was given third place in the contest, and last year, Raymond Gallagher won second place for Notre Dame losing first by only a fraction of a point.

Ford Salesmen of District
Hold Session at the C. of C.

The Ford salesmen of this district held morning and afternoon sessions at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. Fifty attended the meetings.

George Sherman, of the Ford Motor Co., Chicago, spoke in the forenoon. Talks were also given by H. W. Howard, sales manager of the Lee Trailer and Body Co., Chicago, who spoke on "Road Building," and J. A. McClure, assistant sales manager of the Martin Parry corp., York, Pa., who chose "Selling Commercial Cars" as his subject.

Plans showing the different processes involved in "body building" were shown.

AMUSEMENTS

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q.—What movie star presented to Sing Sing prison the moving picture projector which was recently used in showing comic pictures to prisoners about to be executed?

A.—Thomas Meighan donated the projector which was employed for the first time on the day set for the execution of two murders. The pictures were shown in the corridor—the idea being to distract the minds of the prisoners from their approaching execution.

Q.—What female star refuses to desert the islands for feature films?

A.—Ruth Roland, after 11 years in serials, declines to turn her attention to feature photoplays.

Q.—Who plays the part of Sitting Bull in the film, "In the Days of Buffalo Bill?"

A.—Chief Lighthart, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian.

Q.—How many feet of negative were taken in 1921 by the International Newsreel corporation?

A.—It is estimated that 1,349, 264 were taken and developed last year by the International. The film would reach from New York to London.

Q.—What popular film comedian has gone back to black-face comedy?

A.—Lee Moran, who takes the part of the Pullman porter in "Upper and Lower."

How did a rejected film prove a godsend to the director of a million dollar picture? The answer is of unusual interest. Look for it in this column tomorrow.

ORPHEUM

"It's natural to get old," quoth Trixie Friganza, present Orpheum star, "so why not do it gracefully, pray tell?"

In a recent interview, the subject of old age was brought up and, peculiar to her sex, Trixie Friganza looked that subject right in the face and laughed about it.

"I never could understand why women insist on hiding their ages and dyeing their gray hair. If a woman gets old in heart, then she has something to be ashamed of."

"I was born to laugh. It's a gift—this business of making people happy—and I'm grateful that it was given to me. If people could learn to laugh and be happy, old age would never bother them and they probably never would get old."

Miss Friganza is always laughing and expressing surprising bits of philosophy and picking the world to pieces, and then good-humoredly making fun of it.

What largess of good cheer she must have distributed down the years she has been a public favorite and been making fun for other people!

Her gray hair—yes, Trixie's own hair is gray and beautiful and she has never dyed it—has meant not a sign of waning energy and vain regrets for lost youth in some gray-haired chimney corner, but, rather, an ever-increasing joyousness—a love of life that time has only ripened.

Other acts on the bill with Trixie are Ed and Birdie Conrad, sweet singers of sweet songs; Big Jim, the shimmy king of beardom; Lucy Monroe and Kenneth Gratton, presenting the episode, "Miami," Patty Reat and brother, with a musical novelty performed on bottles, and Time and Ward, unusual entertainers.

AUDITORIUM

An entire Spanish village was constructed in Hollywood for one of the big "sets" of the George Seitz production, "Rogues and Romance," which is shown today for the last times at the Auditorium theater. In the cast are June Caprice, the leading lady, Margaret Courtot and Harry Semels. A new and interesting "Torchy" comedy called "Torchy Turns Cupid," and a late issue of Pathe News completes the bill.

Tomorrow brings Franklin Far-num, the son of the West, in a brand new and interesting story of the Royal Mounted Police, entitled "The Raiders," a story of straight-shooting and hard riding through hazardous mountain trails. A super-cast includes Claire Windsor and Bud Osborne. A new chapter of the fascinating "Adventures of Tarzan" and a fun Century comedy are a part of the program.

BLACKSTONE

"Two Minutes to Go," the First National attraction which opened a four-day engagement at the Blackstone yesterday, is another splendid achievement which Charles Ray can add to the list of his successes since becoming a movie star.

It provides Ray with just the sort of a role in which he is at his best, and the talented star is actually at his best every moment he faces the camera in this wholesome, amusing and entertaining story of college life.

Ray portrays the role of Chester Burnett, a football star, who, because of financial reverses suffered by his father, is compelled to earn his own way through college. Without any explanations he quits the team and secretly gets a job as a milk wagon driver, working in the early hours of the morning when none of his comrades are likely to see him. Because of his secretiveness, Chet gets "in bad" with his sweetheart and his friends.

But he stages a great comeback in the crucial game of the season, and the unexpected happens.

Mary Anderson, in the leading feminine role, makes a charming little co-ed, and the balance of the supporting cast gives a creditable performance. Among the prominent players appearing with Ray are Lionel Belmore, Gus Leonard, Bert Woodruff and Philip Dunham.

The photography is excellent, and the direction by Charles Ray himself is a credit to his versatility. Clyde Cook in his latest starring vehicle, "The Torador," is also to be seen on the same program.

Dorothy Dalton in "Idols of the North" will open a three-day engagement Sunday. This will be Miss Dalton's first appearance at the Blackstone.
